

Weather watchers wanted for Nurture Nature event

Updated Jan 02, 2019; Posted Sep 22, 2015

Comment

0 shares

By Rudy Miller | For lehighvalleylive.com

nurture nature globe

Guests look over Science on a Sphere in 2011. (lehighvalleylive.com file photo)

This Thursday's presentation at the Nurture Nature Center will be a learning experience for you, and for the center itself.

The center will debut "World Wide Weather: Living in Balance," a show on its Science on a Sphere projector. The free show that runs from 7 to 8 p.m. shows how meteorologists predict seasonal and daily changes in the weather.

RELATED: Nurture Nature Foundation brings global magic to Easton

Audience members will provide real-time feedback using clickers as they watch the show. And they'll get free pizza and drinks, according to a news release.

The presentation includes some new NOAA datasets called Earth Now, which provide information on our current climate and weather conditions.

The center got the 6-foot sphere projection system in 2011.

The center is at 518 Northampton St. in Easton.

You can also see the show at:

- 7 p.m. Oct. 29
- 7 p.m. Nov. 19
- 11 a.m. Nov. 28

Rudy Miller may be reached at rmiller@lehighvalleylive.com. Follow him on Twitter @RudyMillerLV. Find Easton area news on Facebook.